LATEST NEWS OF THE DAY

Convicts Who Escaped From Prison Uncaptured.

TRADE WITH THE PHILIPPINES

Farmer Kills His Wife and Himself. Moorish Pretender Reported Dead—Carrie Nation at Lancaster.

PRESIDENT AND FAMILY INSULTED

PLACERVILLE, Cal., Aug. 3.—The convicts who escaped from Folsom prison are still at large. The two who engaged in a fatal fight with the soldiers at the Grand Victory mines Saturday night have not been seen since and apparently have made a successful retreat.

The dead bodies of Festus Rutherford and W. C. Jones, the two malitiamen who were shot by the outlaws, were found yesterday where they had fallen. Jones had served in the Philippines as a member of the First Tennessee and the Thirty-seventh Volunteer United States Infantry. Gill, the National Guardsman who was shot through one lung, is now expected to recover.

Another victim of the convict chase was Philip Spinger, a resident of this district. He is deaf and failing to respond to an order to halt was fatally shot by a picket early yesterday morning.

A report received last evening states that four convicts, not believed to be the same ones who ambushed the officers Saturday night, were discovered yesterday near Lotus, in the Webber Creek district, by a posse. A number of shots were fired but so far as known without result.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—The official report of Philippine trade for the month of March, 1903, have been received at the Insular Bureau of the War Department, from whose summary of commerce of the Archipelago it is shown that during the nine months ending March 31, 1903, exclusive of gold and silver and government supplies, the value of merchandise imported and exported amounted to $46,969,485 against $42,300,308 in 1902, and $40,332,196 during the same period of 1901.

The important figures indicate that there has been no material change in the volume of this class of trade as compared with the previous year, the gain being confined exclusively to an increase in exports, principally hemp and copper, both of which products doubtless will be shipped in large quantities for some time to come. The prospects for greater exportations of sugar and tobacco, especially the latter, are good.

OYSTER BAY, L. I., Aug. 3.—Profane and abusive language was directed towards President Roosevelt and his family yesterday as they were leaving Christ church.

The offender was a resident of Oyster Bay named McCann. He was hustled away from the church unceremoniously by the secret service officers.

Accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and two of her children, the president had driven to the village from Sagamore Hill to attend church services as is their custom on Sunday morning. Directly in front of Christ church, the man, McGann, was walking along the roadside pushing a bicycle. After the carriage was about to turn into the driveway leading into the church grounds, it passed McCann. Without provocation, the man with an offensive oath, demanded to know whether they wanted the whole road. This was followed by abusive and profane language. As the carriage stopped at the church door, the president greatly annoyed at the insult offered to Mrs. Roosevelt and the children, alighted and directed the attention of the secret service officers to the man and ordered that he be compelled to leave the vicinity of the church. McGann hesitated when ordered to move on, but when an officer was about to stimulate his movements he sprang on his wheel and rode away rapidly. While the incident was annoying to the president and his family, it is his desire that no action be taken against the man.

LIMA, O., August 3.—At Cridersville, near here, Sunday night, George Stein, a well-to-do middle aged farmer, shot his wife, inflicting injuries from which she afterwards died, and then committed suicide by shooting himself in the head.

Jealously on the part of the husband caused a separation some time since, but a partial reconciliation had been effected and Sunday night Stein asked his wife to accompany him on a buggy ride. Shortly after leaving the village on a country road, farmers heard shots and following the sound, found Mrs. Stein lying in the bottom of the buggy in a dying condition. "My husband shot me," was all she could say.

Search was immediately started for the husband, but it was some hours later before his dead body was found in a field.

LANCASTER, August 3,—Carrie Nation Sunday evening addressed fully 18,000 people at Rocky Springs, a suburban resorts. Her remarks were along the usual line, denouncing the two great political parties as fostering the liquor traffic, and favoring prohibition and woman suffrage. She has given up saloon smashing, she said. Her coming, Mrs. Nation declared, was prohesied in the Bible, and she quoted Isaish xxviii:2 to prove it. She did not create any disturbance during her stay in the city.

TANGIER, Morocco, August 3.—It is reported that the pretender to the throne of the sultan, Bu Hamara, has died of wounds received.

CLOSELY GUARDED.

Lycoming's Sheriff Will Take No Chances With the Burglars.

Lewis, Pamler, Ryan and Shireman, the four men accused of having committed numerous burglaries in Centre county, and who are in jail in this city awaiting trial at Scranton in October, occupy the steel cages, which are regarded as the safest places in the county prison, says the Williamsport Sun.

Lewis had been in the jail on a previous occasion, and as soon as he entered the place the other day he remarked that the jail was in a much better condition than when he was in it before.

Sheriff Milnor told the prisoners that word from Bellefonte was to the effect that while in the jail at that place they did not behave themselves and that he meant to keep a close watch over them while there. He does not intend to keep them locked in the steel cages all the time and at certain times will permit them to exercise in the corridor of the jail.

So long as they did not act disorderly they would be allowed some privileges, but in the event that any attempt is made to get away they will be locked in the cages to remain there until the time for their hearing.

The prisoners denied that they misbehaved at Bellefonte and that the story that they made a saw out of a case knife and attempted to escape is also incorrect.

The People of Salona Annoyed by Skunks.

The residents of Salona are greatly worried on account of the invasion of the town by a swarm of skunks. The first of the odorous pests made their appearance about three weeks ago and since that time 20 or more have been shot and killed, but this slaughter does not appear to have made any apparent decrease in the number. An evening or two ago while a young man was seated in the yard at the rear of the residence of a citizen 13 skunks, evidently attracted by the music the young man was playing, were counted by the musician. A gentleman while crossing the bridge on his way home an evening or two ago passed three of the animals, and another citizen afterwards saw five on the same bridge. A lady who went into the cellar of her house found two of them playing around there. She called a neighbor who chased them out. Poultry and eggs have disappeared from most of the barns, and unless some measures can be devised to rid the town of the pests there will not be a chicken left in the place. No one has been able to discover where the skunks came from, but it is likely they left the shady mountain sides and found their way into the town. County Treasurer Thompson and Deputy Shearer state that although thus far more than than 20 of the skunks have been killed, the pesky critters are still as numerous as ever.

Man's Home a Castle Indeed.

Judge Jacobs, of Dauphin county, in an opinion handed down, holds that a man can lock his door and prevent service of a legal process as long as he is in his home.

This opinion is in the case of the prosecution brought against William Farling for resisting the service of a paper by the Sheriff.

In his opinion Judge Jacobs decides that a man can close his door and that it cannot be forced open by the law officers, no matter what inconvenience there may be to the officers.

MAYOR CUPPER INDICTED

Lock Havens Chief Officer Implicated in Post Office Investigation.

IT CREATED A BIG SENSATION

He is Charged With Conspiracy to Defraud the Government and With Bribing an Official.

THE DETAILED ACCUSATIONS

Local interests in the postal contract investigation, now being made by the United States government, was enhanced Saturday by a dispatch from Washington, to the effect that Major John T. Cupper, of Lock Haven, had been indicted by the United States grand jury on a charge of conspiring to defraud the government. The indictment against Mr. Cupper was one of five indictments filed at Washingington Friday, the other persons named being William C. Long, of Washington; Leopold J. Stern, of Baltimore; Maurice Runkle, of New York, and William G. Crawford, of Washington. All these defendants are alleged to have conspired with August W. Machen, late general superintendent of the free delivery.

The announcement in the Washington dispatch of Friday that Mayor Cupper, of Lock Haven, had been indicted created a pronounced sensation throughout the West Branch valley. Mr. Cupper is widely known as one of the most prominent men of Lock Haven. His business success is largely due to an invention, by himself, of an aluminum paint, which was adopted by the government for use upon all the mail boxes in all the cities and towns of the United States. It is in connection with the contracts for the painting of the mail boxes that Cupper is accused of complicity to defraud the government.

A news dispatch from Washington Friday gives in detail the charges against Cupper. It says: "The technical charges against Cupper, in the two separate indictments filed, are conspiracy to defraud the government and with bribing a government official in connection with a contract to paint letter boxes. Cupper, it appears, controlled or claimed to control, a patent for making an aluminum paint, which he brought to Superintendent Machen's attention as a good thing for use on letter boxes. As it was a patented article, it naturally commended itself to Machen at once, because patented articles could be adopted by the department without resorting to bids and competition. This was early in 1897, and on July 1 of that year, under a contract made with Machen, Cupper began the work of painting letter boxes at fifty cents each, letter box posts at twenty-five cents apiece and package boxes at $1 each.

"The change from the old style of painting the boxes in red to the light-colored aluminum shade attracted much attention and inquiry as to its utility and relative cost. Superintendent Machen answered these inquiries with assurances that the aluminum paint was more durable than the ordinary paint, would preserve the boxes better and was cheaper. As a fact, the price paid Cupper was much higher than the former cost of painting the boxes and posts, Cupper held the contract for four years, until July 1, 1901, and during that time he painted all the boxes in the large cities at least once each year, the boxes in small towns being painted less often. In addition, he was ordered by Machen to paint 17,771 new boxes lying at the factory where they were made, at Reading, Pa., and 2,024 new boxes at a factory at Cleveland, for which work he was paid more than $18,000 although at the time the manufacturers of the boxes were under contract to paint the new boxes before sending them out of their shops.

"In the indictment for bribery returned Friday against Cupper he is charged with having bribed Machen by having paid him a commission of ten cents for each box painted. Machen received this rake-off through a third party, William C. Long, of Washington whose name now figures for the first time in the fraude, and who is associated with Machen and Cupper in one of the indictments for conspiracy. Long is also indicted separately for acting as the intermediary in bribing Machen.

COAL IN HARRIS TOWNSHIP.

A Discovery that May Mean an Industrial Boom for Boalsburg.

In a recent issue we made mention of the industrial boom which was in prospect for Pleasant Gap, with its hatchery and proposed lime operations, and now it seems possible that prosperity with its magic wand is about to touch another section of Centre county. We refer to Harris township where the recent discovery of coal is creating quite a sensation.

A company has been organized to take out this coal and they are meeting with flattering encouragement. A telephone message to this office from our correspondent in that section informs us that they have discovered an eight inch surface vein of coal very easy to get at. The coal is a kind of semi-anthracite and is of good quality. The company have leased land on the Henry Leitzel and the Sparr farm. Derricks and mining machinery are being installed.

We do not know the names of the Capitalists back of this venture but understand they are good reliable men. We may be able to give more definite particulars in a later issue.

Grove—Ward.

A very pretty home wedding took place Wednesday evening at the home of William B. Ward at Pine Grove Mills. The happy parties to this joyous event were Mr. Ward's daughter, Miss Annie and Mr. William Grove, formerly of Pine Grove Mills but now of Altoona.

The ceremony was performed at 7 o'clock by the Rev. Heckman, the Methodist pastor at State College in the presence of about thirty guests.

The groom is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company as a fireman and with his bride will make their future home at Altoona.

NEW POPE ELECTED;

Giuseppe Sarto, Patriarch of Venice is Leo's Successor.

TAKES TITLE OF PIUS X

Election Took Place Tuesday Morning—His Assumption of Office Marked by a Striking Demonstration.

ROME ILLUMINATED IN HIS HONOR

ROME, August 5.—The conclave, after being in session for four days, elected Giuseppe Sarto, patriarch of Venice, as pope to succeed Leo XIII, and he now reigns at the vatican and over the Catholic world as Pius X. Tonight all Rome is illuminated in his honor.

His election and the assumption of his holy office was marked by a striking demonstration and impressive ceremonies at the vatican, which only ended Tuesday evening. Today the new pope, clad in his full pontifical robes and with all the ritualistic ceremony, will receive the members of the diplomatic corps, the cardinals and the bishops, who will then offer their official homage, this notwithstanding the fact that twice Tuesday the cardinals and many high officials of the vatican went through a similar ceremony.

The date upon which the coronation of Pius X will occur has not yet been officially decided, but the impression prevails that it will occur August 9. Although the election was over at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning and was announced to the world forty-five minutes later by the appearance of the new pope at the window of St. Peter's the conclave was not formally dissolved until 5 30 Tuesday afternoon. The cardinals then returned to their various apartments in Rome with the exception of Cardinals Rampollo and Oreglia, who temporarily retain their official suites in the vatican, and Cardinal Herrero Espinoza, who is too ill to be moved for several days. It was to the sick cardinal that the new pope paid his first visit after being formally proclaimed pontiff.

The cardinals will remain in Rome for to-day's ceremonies and should the coronation be fixed for next Sunday they are not likely to return to their respective homes until after that ceremony. With the exception of the Spanish cardinal, Herrero, all the others are now in fairly good health.

The election of the patriarch of Venice Tuesday morning was unanimous. After Monday's ballots it was a foregone conclusion that he was the only candidate sufficiently acceptable to all to secure the necessary two-thirds, which the laws of the church require. One of the cardinals said to the representative of the Associated Press Tuesday night that he believed Pius X would follow the broad lines of Leo's policy, although not likely to accentuate it. This voices the general feeling here which is one of satisfaction.

The new pontiff is a man of simple origin, and although not a very prominent candidate, he had been frequently mentioned as one of the many cardinals who might be taken up as a compromise. In several respects he resembled his venerable predecessor, notable in his reputation for culture and piety. Having been associated with no factions this fact alone won him much favor from foreign cardinals, who were without an especial candidate.

Pius X was humorously described as "a country mouse, who could not possibly find his way about Rome."

Venetians who know the new pope well say that he will soon be as much beloved as pontiff as he was Monday as the beloved patriarch of the poor of the Adriatic. In appearance Pius X is a very handsome man. He has a fine, erect figure, despite his 68 years, his face greatly resembling that of the late Phillip Brooks, the eminent Boston divine.

When he pronounced his first benediction Tuesday at St. Peter's his voice rang out with splendid resonation. In every way Tuesday he showed beyond a doubt that he has dignity and personality in keeping with the best traditions associated with the famous pontiffs who for centuries have ruled the vatican.

Festival at Milesburg.

On Saturday evening Aug. 8 the United Order of Mechanics will hold one of their grand festivals in their hall. The occasion promises to be one of mirth and a jolly good time for all who attend. The Milesburg Coronet band will be present and during the evening will render many beautiful selections.

Houseman Family Re-Union.

The eighth annual reunion of the Houseman family was held Saturday at Lakemont Park and it was a most enjoyable affair. There were some eighty-five members of the family represented and they passed a very pleasant day's outing in becoming better acquainted one with another and various other ways that would tend to make the occasion one of enjoyment and pleasure. During the day Rev. John Houseman made an appropriate address and there were also a few remarks of an interesting nature made by Mr. E. C. Houseman, of Spring Mills, Centre county. Mrs. Frank Houseman and Mr. F. Meek sang a pretty duet and the latter also sang, by request, that beautiful song, "Friends of Long Ago." The following officers were chosen: W. H. Houseman, sr., president; W. H. Houseman, jr., secretary; Miss Laura Houseman, corresponding secretary; Mrs. B. F. Houseman, musical director; Mrs. Daniel Houseman, P. H. Kemmler and J. A. Houseman, committee.

The following are the names of some of the out of town friends who were in attendance; Samuel Houseman, wife and daughter, Alexandria; Rev. John Houseman and wife, J. B. Corbin and wife, Kipple; Miss Caroline Houseman and Miss Verna Lytle, of State College; Mrs. P. Fogel, Fostoria, Miss Irene Houseman, Smith Mills; E. C. Houseman, Spring Mills, and Mr. and Mrs. Pisget, Pittsburg.

The Jolly Musketeers in Camp.

Perhaps one of the jolliest and most deserving set of young men in town are now enjoying a week's encampment at Butler's Grove, a half mile from the beautiful little town of Howard. The boys have selected a most romantic camping place along the banks of the Bald Eagle creek, where fish are plentiful and swimming excellent. They have several fine canoes with which to pass away the happy hours.

By the way they were loaded down with good things to eat we don't think there will be any danger of any of their friends coming away hungry who visit them. They have named themselves the "Jolly Musketeers," and no doubt when they come home their stories will be full of excitement and thrilling events. Boys, we wish you a jolly good time.

The party is made up of the following young men: Harry Smith, Joe Gingher, Clarence Ryan, Frank Dawson, John Krebbs and their little "mascot" Sidney McQuay.

A Handsome Trophy.

Captain Hugh S. Taylor of Company B, is the proud possessor of a handsome badge presented to him by Col Elder, mention of which was made in our account of the home coming of Co B. The writer had the privilege of examining the badge recently. It is solid gold and is a beautiful piece of workmanship. On one side is engraved the date "1885" and the statement that it was first presented by Gen. Hastings to the company of the 5th Regiment having the highest percentage for efficiency. For the past two years it was held by Company F. of Indiana. The Captain of this company is a brother of Gen. John P. Elkin, the famous "Plowboy" aspirant for gubernatorial honors. It is safe to say that Captain Taylor and the boys of Co. B will see to it that the badge stays here for many years to come.

He kindly solicits a continuance of the patronage accorded his late predecessor in the past and is prepared to do a general insurance business.

He will continue to represent the same companies, namely, Insurance Company of North America, Liverpool and London and Globe, Aetna, of Hartford, Farmer, of New York, North British and Mercantile; York Underwriters, Pennsylvania Fire and the Spring Garden.

HER STORY

By JEANNETTE H. WALWORTH

Copyright, 1903, by J. H. Walworth

THE advertisement read: "Have you a story in your own life? And do you need money? Then write your story succinctly, clearly and effectively. Send it to the People's Pride and receive liberal compensation for it. We want stories of real life."

Perhaps thousands scanned that advertisement with idle curiosity, hundreds with a passing wish that they might dare, units with the determination to dare.

One woman lingered over it, read it a second time, a third, folded the paper containing it into a neat square and laid it on the table by which she was working.

Had she a story? Yes. Did she need money? A bitter substitute for a laugh escaped her lips. She folded her delicate ringless hands over the coarse garment she was sewing on and sent her sad eyes on a deliberate survey of the room, which gave evidence of having gradually been denuded of every superfluity.

The woman and the room had nothing in common between them. One was pathetic in her suggestions of elegant requirements; the other was bare to the point of ugliness. Suddenly she leaned across the table and drew writing material within reach.

What if the story she was half minded to write—her story, hers and his—should fall under his eyes? What a triumph for him! What added abasement for her! Could she voluntarily add this final drop of bitterness to her already full cup?

The last she had heard of him he was operating a big cattle ranch in Colorado. It was not likely that a ranchman would find much time for fiction reading. To every eye but his it would be pure fiction and nothing else. A look of resolute determination hardened her worn face. She would do it! Not a pleasant task, but if the bitter memories that strange advertisement had stirred into venomous activity were marketable she was going to market them. After the first plunge the story seemed to write itself.

Her pen moved rapidly.

"Of course it must be in the first person," she said boldly, writing the caption "My Story." Then:

"I was only seventeen, not yet come into that panoply of caution and suspicion which is necessary to womankind when entering the arena of fashionable life, as necessary as was the old time warrior's coat of mail. As I have said, I was only seventeen when my aunt, a rich society woman of New York, offered to take me off my father's hands and introduce me into society. My father was a planter, a bookworm and a widower—not the best guide for a restless girl of seventeen. He had, I suppose, written to this estranged sister about his growing perplexities, and I was handed over at her demand.

"I cannot say that I was anxious to go. I was happy enough as I was. The birds of the air were no freer than I. I had all the comforts I cared for; I had my flowers and my ponies and my numerous pets, in addition to all of which I had my lover. I was engaged to be married to Horace White. I could not recollect when I had not been engaged to him, but it had never occurred to us to name a day.

"Perhaps this idyllic state of affairs was what had aroused my dreaming father to a sense of parental obligation. At any rate I was sent on to my New York aunt.

"I was engaged to Horace White when I left home; I was engaged to Malcolm Ross when I went back. It was without any sense of triviality or wickedness that I transferred my allegiance, not even recognizing the inconvenience of being on with the new love before being off with the old.

"I think it all came of my being suddenly transplanted from the dull monotony of my life with father on the old plantation to the bewildering gayety of my fashionable aunt's home. It was at her house at a crush reception that I first met Malcolm Ross. He was very handsome and past master in the arts of beguiling women. He devoted himself so completely to me that at the close of that first evening my poor, silly little head was in a whirl.

"I was accounted very pretty by my aunt's fashionable friends, and I was pretty. I can speak so now with impersonal frankness, for all my prettiness and sweetness belong to the dear dead past when I was a guileless girl on the old plantation home.

"Then Malcolm Ross came into my life, and the limpid waters ran turbidly. So long as he was by my side I was under a spell that I could not break. I think my aunt must have been but a careless chaperon. Childless herself, she had made no study of girl nature. She made remorseful acknowledgment later.

"Ah, well! What good did her remorse do then or does my bitter retrospection now? Remember, I am doing this for money.

"Horace White came to the station to meet me when I returned home. I started guiltily when the train slowed up, and I saw his dear eyes roving anxiously over each window as it passed in review. How they lighted up with gladness when he finally located me!

"I was come back to him. That was what his luminous smile said to me before he could reach me with his voice. Yes, I had come back to him, but how? I felt like a creature who had been supping on champagne and suddenly found herself confronted by the cooling heaven sent waters of a pure fountain.

"I met him with a fair semblance of the old cordiality. Did he miss anything in my greeting? If he did he was too much of a man to whimper about it. He did not tarry with me long that first evening. He said it belonged of right to the home people. He would come again in the morning. Already my wicked heart was swinging back to its first love. How could I ever have put any man in his place, my Horace of the clear eye, of the true heart, of the clean soul?

"That night when I went to my room I removed the betrothal ring Malcolm Ross had put on my finger. It was like loosening myself from fetters. Had I really been hypnotized? Perhaps. But I knew my fickle heart at last. With every fiber of my being I loved Horace. I had never really loved any one else. I would write Malcolm as much, and he would write me a word of liberation and pardon, and then I would make full confession to Horace.

"My letter to Malcolm Ross was the truest letter I ever wrote. He answered it in person.

"He held me in a hot, unyielding embrace when we met. He laughed mockingly down into my frightened face as he asked me what child's nonsense I had been giving him.

"I flushed angrily under his malicious levity and told him more than my letter had. He released me almost as roughly as he had seized me. His handsome face turned livid with rage.

"'So then it is a question of another man? Horace White, did I understand you to say? So fair a lady as Miss Helen Mandeville may well have lovers to choose from. We will talk of this later on.'

"He turned and walked out of the house. I breathed a prayer of thanksgiving for my freedom. I cried myself to sleep that night for very joy at my escape. You see, I was still an ignorant young fool.

"Two days later Malcolm Ross came back to me. There was an evil look on his handsome face and a strange glitter in his eyes, also a new gentleness in his voice. Later on I came to associate all these signs with his blackest moods.

"He seated himself by me on the sofa and addressed me as if no word of disagreement had ever passed between us. He took a paper from his pocket and laid it down on my lap. I was not to read it immediately, for he placed his hand over it. Then he put me through a severe catechism about Horace White. God knows what my silly tongue could have said to injure my beloved, but when Malcolm apparently had no more questions to ask he removed his hand and said:

"'You have satisfied me that he is the man. Read that slip. I telegraphed home for my clerk to procure it. You can marry your fugitive from justice as soon as you please, but when he turns from the altar he will find handcuffs waiting for him. Not a pleasant postnuptial possibility, is it? I believe you spoke of this Mr. Horace White as the only man you ever had truly loved or ever could?'

"I hung my frightened head in abasement, but I managed to say audibly, 'I said it, and I meant it.'

"'Yes? Well, then, I suppose that will have to stand as a pleasant little stumbling block to trip our marital steps, for you do not imagine for a moment I propose to be set aside like a tiresome boy. You will make your choice here and now, my love. You will either name an early date upon which you will become Mrs. Malcolm Ross or you will marry Horace White and take his conviction upon your own fair shoulders.'

"I named my wedding day—an early one. It was the price of safety to Horace. I was too bewildered to understand all the iniquity that paper charged him with, but my own lips had sealed his fate by admitting that he had been in New York city on the date charging him with absconding with money secured on a forged note.

"I was as powerless as a bird in the snare of the fowler. Six weeks after my return home I left it again as the wife of Malcolm Ross. I never saw Horace after the morning visit he paid me when I told him I was going to marry another man. I looked into his face for some sign of the guilt with which he was charged. To have told him of my sacrifice would have been to nullify it. I gloried in my silly girl's heart to think I was enduring martyrdom for his sake.

"I tried to be a good wife to Malcolm, but he made it very hard. He had thought I was to be my aunt's heiress, she being childless. When at her death all the property reverted to her husband's side of the house he threw off his last semblance of love or respect. Perhaps I was not entitled to either.

"We were miserably poor, and I had been reared in ignorance of every useful acquirement. He settled down to a gambler's profession and I to the lot of neglected wife. He is dead now, and I thank God there are no children to inherit his vices or my weakness. Do I thank God? My life is utterly desolate, utterly without ties. At one time I thought of taking up the old home ties. But father is dead, and the old place has been cut up and sold for the benefit of the children who were minors when I was married. I would not disturb them in their occupancy. They do not even remember me. I should only be a dark blot on any one's hearthstone.

"I have told my story. I shall coin it for bread—bread which I shall season with the bitterest tears I have shed for many a weary year."

Yes, she had told her story "succinctly, clearly and effectively." She took it down to the office of the People's Pride herself. She gave it into the hands of the business manager, who told her, with an impersonal glance at her pale face, that it would be taken up in due course of business and their readers would pass upon it without any unnecessary delay.

"Their readers" were to pass upon her broken life! Ah, well, that was what she had put it into black and white for. If only they would pass favorably! That was her one concern now.

It seemed an eternity before an envelope stamped with the office address of the People's Pride came to her hands. She tore open the envelope in fluttering haste. No check dropped out. Instead a typewritten note, curt and businesslike:

Madam—Your story, entitled "My Story," has sufficient dramatic interest to make it acceptable with a few emendations. Will you kindly call on the editor in chief of the People's Pride to receive some suggestions along that line?

Of course she would call. A gleam of hope warmed her chilled heart.

She was promptly passed from hand to hand until she stood in the awesome presence of the chief. The great man was sitting at a big cylinder desk imposingly littered with papers. She recognized her own story even as she reached his chair and before he had risen slowly to accost her gravely.

It was a crucial moment to her; her first experience of the majesty of the sanctum. Her eyes rested on the litter of papers; his rested on her. With no change of attitude he took up her manuscript and held it toward her with an unsteady hand.

"Helen, is this the way it all happened?"

Time had wrought some subtle changes in his appearance. His voice was as unforgotten music to her ears. With a low cry of wonder and of longing, she made a step forward, then reeled dizzily.

Her first coherent words were, "I thought you were thousands of miles away on a ranch."

"For a little while, yes. I stayed out there long enough to conclude that a man who allows a woman's fickleness to slay all purposes in his life does not deserve to be called a man. But it was not fickleness if this is true."

She stretched pleading hands toward him. "No, oh, no! I was so young, so frightened, so silly! I did not know what to do, what to believe."

"You should never have believed that of me. Unfortunately the name I bear has been duplicated many times even within my own knowledge. I read about that case of forgery with some interest because a Horace White had done it, but I never credited that story with the wreck of all my hopes."

"And now?"

She stood up before him, trembling. He put out his hand to detain her.

"You are free," he said, "and I love you." He smiled on her with solemn tenderness. "You will have to add a sequel to your story, dearest, and call it 'Our Story.'"

"No," she said. And into her smile crept the old time archness. "My literary life is at an end. It is not fame that feeds a woman's hungry heart, my own; it is love. Oh, Horace, I hunger and I thirst for yours!"

"Co B" Arrives Home From Camp.

After a long days ride over the Baltimore and Ohio and the Pennsylvania railroad, "Company B" of the 5th Regt., arrived home on Friday evening at 10:30. The soldier boys broke camp at Somerset at 9 o'clock and by noon were speeding homeward. The weeks encampment was one of the most enjoyable known to the company and the expression on all sides was that everyone had a royal good time. The weather was beautiful all week and no one was sick. On Thursday evening Col. Rufus C. Elder presented Capt. Taylor with a "Gold Medal" the gift of General Hastings when he was in command of the Regiment in 1882 for the company having the highest percentage and standing first in this organization. The boys feel very proud of same and no doubt will endeavor to carry it as long as they possibly can. Next year the entire State guard expect to encamp at St Louis Mo., for ten days during the World's Fair.

Eye Dont's.

Don't use the eyes before breakfast.

Don't wear a veil with black dots or one woven with double threads.

Don't forget to bathe the eye with a weak solution of warm salt water, especially should they be inflamed.

Don't forget to wash the dust from the eyelids every night before retiring.

Don't waste your eyes by gazing at any strong light, natural or artificial.

Don't put colored shades on your lights. Of the colors green is the least harmful. White or ground glass is the best.

Don't sit facing a strong light. If possible let it fall over your left shoulder.

Don't fail to remove a cinder by gently brushing a tiny camel's hair brush dipped in sweet oil across the eyeball.

Don't look too steadily at flying objects from the window of a rapidly moving car, and don't allow a cold, raw wind to strike the eye.

Don't rub the eyes away from the nose; rub gently toward it and don't fail to consult an oculist as soon as you need glasses.

About the Rural Mail Boxes.

A recent order of the Postmaster General regarding the use of boxes on Rural Free Delivery routes is of interest to all patrons. That part relating to the interference with boxes is based on the following act of Congress:

"Whoever shall hereafter willfully or maliciously injure, tear down or destroy any letter box or other receptacle established by order of the Postmaster General or approved or designated by him for the receipts or delivery of mail matter on any rural free delivery route, or shall break open the same, or willfully or maliciously injure, deface or destroy any mail matter deposited therein, or shall willfully take or steal such matter from or out of such letter box or other receptacle or shall willfully aid or assist in any of the afore mentioned offenses. Shall for every such offense be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars or by imprisonment for not more than three years."

Each box must be erected by the road side so that the carrier can easily obtain access to it without dismounting from his vehicle. The same box must not be used for more than one family, except in the case of near relatives or those residing in the same house.

Persons neglecting or refusing to comply with these conditions will be regarded as not desiring free delivery, and rural carrier will be directed not to serve them.

Wood—Faxon Nuptials.

Mr. J. Warren Wood and Miss Martha J. Faxon sprung a surprise on their friends Thursday afternoon by going quietly to the Episcopal rectory where at half after three o'clock they were united in holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. George Israel Brown. Their wedding was simplicity itself and nobody but the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Faxon were present to witness it.

Thursday evening they were given an informal reception at the home of the bride's parents on east High street, where merriment reigned for several hours in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Wood.

They expect to live with Mrs. Wood's parents until they succeed in finding a house of their own.

This paper joins with the many friends in wishing them long life and abundant prosperity.

Remedy for Lockjaw.

A correspondent of the Scientific American says:

Let anyone who has a case of lockjaw take a quantity of turpentine, warm it, and pour it on the wound, no matter where it is, and relief will follow in less than a minute. Nothing better can be applied to a severe cut or bruise than cold turpentine. It will give certain relief almost instantly. Turpentine is also a sovereign remedy for croup. Saturate and place the flannel on the throat and chest, and in each case three or four drops may be taken inwardly on a lump of sugar.

Child Lost in Woods.

All efforts to find Bennie Scott, the eight-year-old son of Michael Scott, of near Laurelville, Westmoreland county, who disappeared on Monday of last week, have proven futile, and the parents of the child are almost crazed with grief.

The boy had been on a visit to his grandmother, who lives about four miles up in the mountains from Laurelville, and he left there on Monday morning saying he was going home. That was the last seen of him, and it is believed that he has been kidnapped or is wandering about in the mountains.

I perscribe it now daily in my practice and heartily recommend its use to all physicians for such troubles. I have perscribed it in hundreds of cases with perfect success." C. M. Parrish.

DEPOSITORS ARE MANY.

Doors of the Doylestown National Bank Are Closed

ANNOUNCEMENT WAS A SURPRISE

Deposits Received Up Until the Closing Hour on Wednesday and There Was No Intimation of the Institution's Condition.

THE CLERKS WERE ALL EXONERATED

DOYLESTOWN, July, 31.—The Doylestown National Bank failed Thursday. It is now in the hands of the comptroller of Currency. The posting of notices created great excitement in the town as there are many depositors.

The bank examiners have been working on the books for two days past, but no statements has been issued either by the examiners or the officers of the bank.

Cashier George P. Brock gave the following statements Thursday.

"All I can say at present is that the department deemed it necessary upon examination to take charge of the bank's affairs and will make equitable distribution in the manner prescribed by the department, which will require a little time. That is about all that can be said at present, except to add that there is nothing dishonest in the situation."

The paid in capital stock of the bank is $105,000 and the surplus fund $110,000. The individual deposits and certificates of deposit amount, according to the bank's last statement, to over $1,000,000. The par value of the capital stock is $50, only $35 of which has been paid in. According to the banking laws, the stockholders are liable in double the par value of their stock.

The officers of the bank are: President, Henry Lear; cashier, George P. Brook; directors, Watson F. Paxson, Henry Lear, J. B. Rosenberger, Dr. Harvey Kratz, John L. DuBois, R. Worthington, R. Burroughs Michener, J. D. Walter, F. L. Worthington, Preston Hagerty.

National Bank Examiner Schofield has been appointed receiver and took charge Thursday. Speculation, it is said, caused the bank's failure. The bank held the funds of the county, amounting to several thousand dollars.

"The losses," said Deputy Comptroller Kane Thursday, will absorb the entire surplus and capital stock of the bank. In other words' the total loss will amount to $215.000, and it devolves upon the directors and stockholders to make up this deficiency."

Recently a branch for saving small sums had been added to the bank's business.

The bank was financing several business enterprises in Doylestown and for a time these may suffer embarrassement.

Thursday afternoon Examiner Schofield exonerated the clerks in the employ of the bank from all blame in connection with the failure and informed them that as far as the government was concerned their connection with the bank ended Thursday.

President Lear is a prominent lawyer in the county. He is now at Longport, near Atlantic City, N. J., and it said to be prostrated as a result of the failure of the bank.

Cashier Brock is chief burgess of Doylestown, assistant chief of the fire department, a vestryman in the Episcopal church and a member of various organizations. He owns a stock farm at Buckingham, near here.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. TEN THOUSAND PRESENT.

Methodists Gather in Great Number in Reunion at Lakemont.

Ten thousand people were said to be present at Lakemont Park Thursday on the occasion of the sixth annual reunion of the Methodists of Blair and adjoining counties. The weather was ideal, the one shower of the day being a refreshing episode.

The morning exercises, beginning at 10:30 o'clock, were presided over by Rev. M. C. Piper, pastor of Walnut Avenue church, and after devotional services Rev. J. Ellis Bell, presiding elder of Altoona district, with a few welcoming and congratulatory remarks, introduced Rev. C. E. L. Cartright, D. D., of Scottdale, who spoke on "The Mistakes Moses Didn't Make." The benediction was pronounced by Dr. E. J. Gray, of Williamsport, and the audience was dismissed for the noon hour.

At 2 o'clock the afternoon exercises opened with an over-crowded audience. Rev. H. C. Pardoe presided over these services and "He Leadeth Me" was sung by the congregation, followed by "See How Great a Flame Aspires." Rev. J. H. Daugherty, of Tyrone, led in prayer. Rev. T. J. Leak, D. D., of Pittsburg, was then introduced and spoke on the life history of "John Wesley." Misses Thompson and Buck then sang a duet in a very charming manner.

Dr. E. J. Gray, of Williamsport, reported prosperous the seminary at that place and as doing noble Christian work, looking after body, mind and soul of the students. The speaker also paid tribute to the life and work of John Wesley.

A male quartette inspiringly sang "Ashamed of Jesus." Rev. J. M. Yeager, D. D., of New York, then spoke a few words on the blessed outcome of persecuted truth.

After a few remarks by Rev. J. E. Bell the audience was dismissed with the long metre doxology and the benediction pronounced by Rev. T. J. Leak.

At the evening meeting Rev. G. M. Klepfer presided. The lecture of the evening was delivered by Rev. Dr. J. M. Yeager, of New York. By request, his theme was "Jauntings of the Old East" instead of the advertised topic, "Rocks That Wreck." The lecture was a very able one and held the undivided attention of the people from the beginning until the close.

With the Soldier Boys at Camp McKinley.

Somerset, July 25.—Camp McKinley was made lively Thursday by the arrival of the several regiments composing the Second brigade for their annual encampment. Long before the sun could break its way through the heavy fog martial music awoke every one in the camp as well as in the town, and the boys in khaki were given a hearty welcome. The first train to arrive carried the Fourteenth regiment. It was followed closely by the Tenth and then came the Eighteenth half an hour later. Battery B arrived on time, but the Sixteenth regiment (one battalion) did not reach here until nearly 9 o'clock. The Sheridan troop is the only organization not in camp. Friday morning the Tenth and Fifth regiments went through the ceremony of guard mount and the Eighteenth and Fourteenth put out guards without the ceremony. Regular camp duties did not commence until after the formal opening of camp at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

To put the brake on the wagon going down the hill is a help to the horse, when the wagon is heavily loaded. But what driver would think of applying the brake to a loaded wagon going up hill? If he did, his sensible horses would probably balk. Many a man is in the condition of pulling a load up hill with the brake set against him. When his stomach is out of order, and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition impaired in their functions, a friction is set up which has to be overcome in addition to the performance of daily duties. A foul stomach makes a foggy brain, and the man with a disordered stomach has often to grope his way through the day's business like a man in a fog. He forgets appointments. Problems seem presented to his mind "wrong end to." This condition is entirely remedied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts the stomach and digestive and nutritive system into a condition of perfect health, and gives a clear brain, a steady hand and a light step for the day's duties. When constipation clogs the channels of the body, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will work an effectual cure of that disastrous disease.

—Saturday night Harvey Hunter, an old river pilot of Newport, Perry county caught a sturgeon in the Juniata river that is seven feet long. It was caught in a basket and is the biggest catch ever made in the Juniata river as far as old residents can remember.

POTENT PILL PLEASURE.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot of Albany, Ga., says "During a bilous attack I took one. Small as it was It did me more good than calomel blue-mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." of Williamsport, will make his monthly visit here for

ONE DAY,

Wednesday,

AUGUST 26th, 1903

from 8 a.m. to 6 p. m., with headquarters in

The Brockerhoff House

Bellefonte, Pa.

Hundreds are going blind daily, from the need of the proper prescribed glasses and from delaying attention to the eyes from time to time. Nothing will destroy your eyesight quicker than cheap glasses or glasses not properly fitted to your eyes.

Prof. Angel, in the short time he has been visiting this section, has met with marked success. Scores of leading citizens of this community have found relief from his treatment. It is not necessary to travel to Eastern cities for treatment when you can consult an eminent oculist at home.

He will examine your eyes at your home, by appointment, without extra charge.

THE kissing habit of monarchs was understandable in the days of Cleopatra but now——it must be painful to travel anywhere except to Holland.

THE era of prosperity has struck the South square amidships. May cotton has gone to $11.60. Cotton at 10 cents a pound has long been the hope of the Southern planters.

A CAREFUL study of that ancient institution, "The Truce of God" is respectfully recommended to some prominent families in Kentucky.

DEATH OF MRS. SARAH MOORE.

Belonged to One of Centre County's Pioneer Families.

Mrs. Sarah Moore, one of Boalsburg's oldest inhabitants, died at her home in that place Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock after an illness of two months' duration of diseases incident to old age.

Her maiden name was Miss Sarah Bloom and she was the daughter of Henry Bloom. She was born in Union county 86 years and 4 months ago. When five years old her parents moved to Ferguson township, this county, where the village of Bloomsdorf now stands. She was the last of the Bloom connection, a most honored family in Ferguson township.

She married Jesse Moore and they located in Huston township. Her husband preceded her to the grave about twenty years ago. Four sons and two daughters are left to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother, namely, Henry, of St. James, Minnesota; William, of St. Louis, Mo.; Charles, of Boalsburg; Samuel, of State College; Mrs. Sue Wilson, of Milesburg, and Mrs. Harriet Weaver, of Boalsburg.

The deceased was a consistent member of the Reformed church and it is said of her that she attended the dedication of the three Reformed churches at Boalsburg, and distinctly recalled the earlier one. The first one was built eighty years ago, the second forty-two years ago and the third last year. She was a woman who was loved and respected by the entire community in which she lived and her death is generally mourned.

The funeral will take place this morning at 10 o'clock, interment in the Boalsburg cemetery beside her husband. The services will be conducted by her pastor, Rev. A. A. Black.

A Building Fund for the Academy.

Two friends of the Academy who live in distant cities recognizing the merits of this excellent school, have offered Rev. J. P. Hughes and his son James three thousand dollars as a nucleus for a building fund. Some of these days more such gifts will, doubtless, be made to the Academy and then a fine building will be erected which will amply meet the growing needs of this rapidly growing institution. The Academy is an industry that brings a great deal of money into this community and every citizen should encourage it in every way he can.

Met a Tragic Death.

A shocking fatality occurred on the Pennsylvania railroad at Sylvan Dell, near Williamsport, Wednesday afternoon, in which two young girls were killed in a shocking manner. The victims were Marion Clawson, 14 years of age, daughter of C. F. Clawson, a clerk in the Shopbell dry goods store, and Beatrice Tate, 11 years of age, daughter of Harry Tate, of Chicago and a grand-daughter of Charles A. Quiggle, assistant trainmaster of the Pennsylvania railroad. Their lifeless bodies mutely tell the pitiful story of joy of picnickers in a twinkling turned to deep distress.

The Clawson and Tate girls had a companion, Louise Clinger, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Clinger, of 627 Pine street. She miraculously escaped the cruel wheels that mangled and tore her little friends.

The girls were walking on the tracks, and were run down by a freight train approaching from behind. The whistle shrieked the danger signal, but the girls became bewildered and transfixed.

Marion Clawson's body was cut in twain near the shoulders. Her face was not disfigured. The Tate child was injured internally and her skull was crushed in. The injuries of both were of such a nature that death resulted instantly.

—A Patton man set a trap in his cellar the other night to capture what he thought was a rat. The animal had been looting his cellar for a week and the man was determined to put a stop to it. He was successful the first night, and now he wishes he had not caught it. It wasn't a rat at all, but a skunk, and the whole neighborhood were out before daylight trying to locate it. At last accounts the owner of the property hadn't decided which would be cheaper, to disinfect the cellar or burn the house.

BROOM STOCK BOOMS

From the facts presented you will understand why stock of the International Broom Company, Manufacturers of the Twentieth Century Broom, is a gilt-edged investment, and why it is regarded as such by all who will not put their money into any enterprise unless they see great and speedy profits ahead. Owing to the quick growth and great progress of the International Broom Company the stock has been advanced to

60 CENTS A SHARE.

We would advise intending investors to avail themselves of this low price and purchase before another raise. With the various applications for sub-companies now in hand, there is no doubt that about the latter part of August the price will be advanced to

75 CENTS A SHARE.

The high place The New Broom gained in public favor is due to the Company's ability to produce solid proof of every statement.

Contract closed for sub-company in Chicago with largest broom manufacturer in the United States.

Contract closed for sub-company in New Haven, Conn.

Contract will be closed shortly for sub-company in Kansas City.

Contract will be closed shortly for sub-company in Fall River, Mass.

Contract will be closed shortly for sub-company in City of Mexico.

Sub-Company now manufacturing the New Broom in Ottawa, Ont.

All on royalties to the parent company—The Ottawa Company alone will pay the International Broom Company about $25,000 a year in royalties.

20 Other Applications for Sub-Companies Now Pending.

WE ASSERT AND CAN PROVE

That the demand for The New Broom is as wide as the civilized world.

That it is the only sanitary broom made.

That the Brooklyn factory made in April, 1903, twice as many brooms as in March and four times as many as in February, and earned a profit of more than 25 per cent. over its operating expenses on its production.

That dealers, wholesale and retail, think so well of The New Broom that they are becoming stockholders in the Company.

If we could not prove all this, and more, we should not expect any careful and conservative investor to buy this stock.

As we are thoroughly familiar with the plans and projects of the Company and the possibilities of The New Broom we unhesitatingly declare that this stock should very soon pay a dividend in the par value and rapidly advance until it sells for $2.00 or $3.00 per share.

It is, therefore, advisable that intending investors who wish to investigate this proposition do so at an early date before the next advance in price is announced. Those who subscribe now will be benefited by the increase.

Intending investors can obtain full particulars and ample proof of the claims of this Company on application at our office.

Mer segt, d'r Mensch wär en Gewohnheetsthier un dät zu Allem gejuhst werre; awer an den do Humbug gewehn ich mich mei Lewe net. Heit Mittag hot se mir gesaht, ich sot d'r Carpet kloppe. Ich hab d'r Carpet un die Waschlein genumme, bin an d'r Hiwel nuf un hab die Lein an zwee Behm angebunne. Dann hab ich d'r Carpet drufgehängt, ihn mit Waschspelle festgemacht, daß ihn d'r Wind net hot fortblose kenne un hab mich derzu in d'r Schatte gehockt. Noch ere Weil bin ich nunner an's Haus. Well, bischt Du dann schun ferrig? frogt se.—Nee, ich hab noch gar net angefange. Ich meen es dhut dem Carpet gut, wann die Sunn en Weil druf scheint; er werd dann schee drocke un is leichter zu kloppe.—Awer net, daß Du Dich dricke wit, segt se.—Schuhr net, sag ich; heemlich awer hab ich mei Freed gehot, wie ich gesehne hab, daß d'r Wind den Carpet so rumzauft un schüttelt, un so gege Oweb bin ich dann nuf uf d'r Hiwel for d'r Carpet zu hole.—Bischt Du schun ferrig? frogt die Alt. Ich hab Dich jo gar net kloppe heere. Der werd schee sauber sei.—Se hot dann den Carpet an die Ecke gepackt un geschüttelt, awer es is kee Stahb meh rauskumme. Nau kannst en ah grad lege, segt se.—Ich hab angefoßt, daß ich nix dun sellem versteh, awer ich bin net so leicht fortkumme, wie mit em Kloppe. Ich will Dir schun weise, wie sell gemacht werd, segt se, un enihau ich hab misse uf die Knie falle. Daß Du mir en juscht gut streckst, hot se kommandirt un is net gewiche un gewendt, bis ich ferrig war. Des war die härtst Stund Erwet, was ich mei Lewe gedhu hab, un ich hab schun welle in's Bett. Do hot se gesaht: Dun nau an ziegst Du Dei Stiwel drunne in d'r Kich aus. Ich hab mich sauer gequält un will nau browiere mei Haus sauber zu halte.—Do wartst awer en Weil. In d'r Schlofstub zieg ich mei Stiwel aus, wann ich redby bin for in's Bett zu gehne, wie ich allfort hab. Wann Du denkst, Du wottst in meine alte Dage aus mir en Narr mache, dann fuhlst Du Dich. Eb ich so verrickt Zeig anfang, loß ich mich scheede!—Nau war's haus un do hättst Du mei Alte heere solle! Verleicht geh ich heit Nacht heem, verleicht ah net." Un d'r Hannes war ganz in Ufruhr.

„Ach," sag ich zu ihm, „mach kee Streeche. Des Ding mit em Hausbutze is in d'r ganze Juneited Stehts so. Grummle kannst Du so viel Du wit, awer es batt nix. Alle Männer wisse sell. Geh heem un schlof. Morge is dann wieder Alles recht. Du werst doch in Deine alte Dage net noch Eselsstreeche mache welle."

„Nee, erscht wird eens gepetzt. So en Aerger muß runnergewasche werre. Un es mag kumme wie's will, des sag ich, uf die Strumpfocke lahf ich net in meim eegene Haus rum, wie en Dieb. Sauber sei, is allrecht, awer wann mer brunner leide muß, dann is sell en Nuhsens. Do heeßt es grad, wann mer en Wort segt: Jo, Ihr Männer bäte im Dreck verstide, wann es net for uns arme geplogte Frahe wär! Dumm Zeig! Siewe Pund Dreck muß en Mensch im Johr enihau schlucke, so hab ich allfort sage heere. Eb er dann en halb Pund mehner schluckt, macht ah kee Differenz. Gehst mit an's Kitzelberfer's?"

Ich bin net mit, awer ich hab geheert, daß d'r gut alt deitsch Hannes an sellem Oweb en verdollte Hex mit heemgenumme un ufem Kichebode geschlofe hot, mit die Stiwel an, juscht wegem Hausbutze. Awer scheebe hot er sich net losse un ich denk net, daß er dhut.

ROUNDS HALF CENTURY MARK.

Dr. D. S. Monroe for Fifty Years Active in Methodist Ministry.

Congratulations are being showered upon Dr. D. S. Monroe, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Shamokin, because of the fact that he has completed a half-century career in the ministry.

Dr. Monroe has always been prominent in the administrative affairs of the church. He is now secretary of the General Conference and for 26 years he held the same office in the Central Pennsylvania Conference. He is a native of Virginia and at the age of 20 years became a minister.

Dr. Monroe has been at Shamokin four years and previously filled many of the leading charges in the conference. He was at Altoona thirteen years and was presiding elder of this district.

At Baltimore, when the Civil war broke out, he prayed at the first encampment of Union troops in that city. It was to a Philadelphia regiment under command of Colonel Peter Lyle.

In 1863 at Lock Haven Dr. Monroe was arraigned before conference for "preaching politics." The man who preferred charges was a rebel clergyman. Dr. Monroe proved he spoke only for the abolishment of slavery and the maintenance of the Union, whereupon the charges against him were abandoned.

Dr. Monroe is well known in Bellefonte, having been pastor here.

A Popular Conductor Retires.

James C. Waddle, who resides at 525 Bellefonte avenue, Lock Haven, made his last trip Friday as conductor of the local freight train on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad and has been placed on the retired list of railroad employes. Mr. Waddle, during all of the 42 years he has been in the employ of the railroad company with the exception of a brief period at the beginning of his railroad career, has been conductor of the local freight train. He has been in several wrecks but was always fortunate enough to escape without serious injury. He is one of the most popular employes of the Bald Eagle Valley line and is nearing his 70th birthday anniversary.

Mr. Waddle will be remembered by our older citizens having at one time been a resident of Bellefonte and owning the property now occupied by Mr. Baker and owned by Mr. A. O. Furst on West Curtin Street.

HARD ON SMALL DEALERS.

Deputy Internal Revenue Collector G. W. Rees has received notice from the Commissioner of Internal Revenue in regard to a new ruling affecting the sale of tobacco, snuff and cigars exposed for sale outside of stamped packages. This ruling will bear heavily upon small dealers. Mr. Rees is notifying the dealers hereabouts in regard to the matter. The ruling of the Commissioner is as follows:

"The language of the Revised Statutes is so plain as to hardly require explanation. Liberally construed, they permit the sale of manufactured tobacco, snuff, cigars and cigarettes by retail dealers from the original manufacturer's stamped packages only, and require that these products must remain in such original stamped packages at all times until sold and delivered to customers.

"Manufactured tobacco, snuff, cigars and cigarettes found on the market outside of the manufacturer's packages in which they were originally packed are subject to seizure and forfeiture and the person in whose possession the same are found is liable to prosecution and on conviction to heavy fines and imprisonment.

"From information that has reached this office, it appears that the law and regulations relating to sales by jobbers and other dealers in manufactured tobacco, snuff, and cigars are quite generally disregarded and ignored, and that these articles are being exposed for sale outside the original package unprotected by the tax-paid stamps. It is the purpose of this circular to give notice to all concerned that these irregularities and violations must cease or those guilty of them must suffer the consequences.

"One dealer in manufactured tobacco is not privileged to take from a manufacturer's package a portion of the contents and deliver the same unaccompanied by the tax-paid stamp to another dealer for resale; neither can a dealer lawfully receive or have in his possession manufactured tobacco, snuff, cigars, or cigarettes removed from the original stamped packages. Such unstamped articles exposed for sale or exhibited in show windows, show cases, glass jars, or otherwise by dealers, wholesale or retail, are forfeitable and must be seized.

"Owing to the existing misunderstanding on the part of dealers in manufactured tobacco as to the requirements of the law, immediate steps will not be taken to strictly enforce the same, but an opportunity will be afforded such dealers to remedy existing evils and to get their stock of manufactured tobacco, snuff, cigars and cigarettes in condition to fully comply with the law and regulations.

"When, on tor after November. 1, 1903, manufactured tobacco, snuff, cigars or cigarettes are found on the market exposed for sale outside of the original packages, the same will be seized by the proper collector or deputy collector, and the facts reported to this office and to the United States District Attorney, with recommendation for such action as may be deemed requisite."

The next morning, when the congregation assembled, two wags stood before the church door and one bet the minister would thank the Lord for his money first and the other bet he would thank him for the baby. When the reverend gentleman arose to pray he said; 'Lord, we desire, also, to thank Thee for this timely succor.' The boys are yet undecided as to which was the winner."

Drowned in the Surf.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 1.—Dr. Joseph Kelvin, aged 34 years, of Carbondale, Pa., gave up his life Thursday while trying to rescue from the sea Miss Mearle Shannon, aged 20 years, of Williamsport, Pa., who disappeared beneath the waves before she could be taken from the water. Dr. Kelvin was a guest at the Hotel Sothern, where Miss Shannon was employed. The young woman while bathing was swept around the end of a jetty at a point where the water was 20 feet deep. The girl gave a shriek, and Dr. Kelvin, who had accompanied her into the surf, went to her rescue. He reached her, and while struggling to get her into shallow water she was torn from him by the waves. About this time three life guards came to the rescue, and one of them took care of Dr. Kelvin who lapsed into unconsciousness. The girl sank and the other two guards dived for her, but could not find the drowning girl. They searched for her for half an hour and the body had not been recovered. The life guard tried to resuscitate Dr. Kelvin, without success. It is believed that he died from some other cause than drowning, as he had not been in the water long enough.

The accident was witnessed by thousands of persons on the boardwalk, among whom was Mrs. John Klune, of Carbondale, the mother of Dr. Kelvin. She did not know that the dead man was her son until she had elbowed her way through the crowd and found him lying on the beach. Mrs. Klune was taken care of by friends.

In response to the following letter from the editor of the Concord Evening Monitor, Mrs. Eddy gave out the statement which appeared in the Monitor and in the leading papers throughou. the country.

The Rev. Mary Baker Eddy,
Pleasant View.

My Dear Mrs. Eddy:—In case you care to make any public comment upon the death of Pope Leo XIII., which occurred at Rome this afternoon, the Monitor would be pleased to become the vehicle to transmit your tribute to the public.

Faithfully Yours,
George H. Moser.

The sad, sudden announcement of the decease of Pope Leo XIII., touches the hearts and will move the pen of millions. The intellectual, moral, and religious energy of this illustrious Pontiff has moved the Church of Rome for one quarter of a century. The august ruler of 250,000,000 human beings has now passed through the shadow of death into the great forever. The Court of the Vatican mourns him, his relatives shed "the unavailing tear;" he is the loved and lost of many millions. I sympathize with those who mourn; but rejoice in knowing our dear God comforts such with the blessed assurance that life is not lost, its influence remains in the minds of men, and Divine Love holds its substance safe in the certainty of immortality. "In him was life, and the life was the light of men." John, 1:4.

A Pretty Wedding at State College

A very pretty wedding took place at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sents at State College Thursday forenoon at 10:30 o'clock, when their daughter Mary became the wife of Edgar Krug, of Lock Haven. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. R. Heckman, pastor of the M. E. church at State College.

The wedding was a quiet affair, none but the bride's family and a few neighbors being in attendance. The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sents, and much respected in the community in which she was reared. The groom for three years was an employe of the Times office at State College and for several months past has been an employe in the job department of the Lock Haven Democrat of Lock Haven, where he has proven himself, by his industrious habits and gentlemanly demeanor, to be a workman much to be desired.

Mr. and Mrs. Krug will go to housekeeping at Lock Haven.

THE GRANGE

Conducted by J. W. DARROW,
Press Correspondent New York State Grange

SOME POINTS OF PRACTICE.

Authoritative Information on Many Questions.

The following answers to questions by the master of the Michigan state grange, Hon. George B. Horton, are of general interest:

Q.—How often should a grange meet? A.—Article III of the constitution says, "Subordinate granges shall meet at least once each month and may hold intermediate meetings." Experience proves that meetings should be held at least semi-monthly to meet all demands upon the grange in carrying on its several lines of important work.

Q.—Are the open meetings desirable? A.—The grange is established as a closed session organization for the benefit of its paying members. So called open meetings may be held with profit occasionally, say once a year. On such occasions the grange should be shown at its best.

Q.—In holding open meetings should invitations be given in general? A.—For the success and benefit to be derived from such meetings each member should be given the privilege of inviting such neighbors and friends as are eligible to membership and who would make desirable members. There are but small chances for good from a general public meeting.

Q.—Should the rejecting of a candidate be discussed by the members? A.—Except in very extreme cases no good can come from discussing beforehand the rejection of a candidate, and after the event it is positively irritating and wrong. All such matters should rest with the conscience of each individual member.

Q.—Can a master give the annual word to a visiting member? A.—No. Each member must receive the word from the master of the grange to which he belongs.

Q.—Can first and second degrees be conferred on one candidate and the third and fourth on another candidate all in the same evening? A.—Yes. The constitution says that "No grange shall confer more than two degrees on the same person at the same meeting." It is considered that the lessons of two degrees are all that the candidate can retain sufficiently to proceed intelligently, and if the grange performs the work properly it is all that should be undertaken for the good of the order.

Q.—When should the minutes be approved? A.—The ritual provides that the minutes or record of a meeting shall be approved at the close of the meeting when they were enacted. The reading of records at a subsequent meeting is for the information of members only.

Q.—Should the worthy master sign the minutes? A.—There is nothing in grange law which requires the signature of the master to the record of a meeting.

Q.—When the assistants are taking up the word shall the annual or degree word be given first. A.—It is required that the annual word be given first, then followed by the fourth degree word.

Q.—Has a grange the right to elect a new officer to fill a vacancy where a resignation has not been made? A.—Yes, for the grange can declare a vacancy when an officer is delinquent in duty. Any officer, from whatever cause, should not be permitted to be a stumbling block to the progress of the grange. Punctual officers and regular meetings are essential to grange success.

Q.—In electing officers is it permissible to vote to instruct the secretary to cast the vote of the grange for a certain member for a certain office? A.—Election by ballot in the grange has reference to a free, untrammeled expression of preference by each individual member. To instruct the secretary to act for the whole body is not in line with this just principle and should not be allowed.

Q.—Should an applicant come to the grange meeting at which his application is to be balloted upon? A.—While an applicant can be elected and have the first degree conferred upon him at the same meeting it should not be encouraged or practiced except in extreme cases to concentrate several candidates and thus save work to the grange. With the applicant in waiting at the grange hall it would be very embarrassing in case of rejection. There is generally time enough to wait until results are known.

Q.—Shall the worthy master or lecturer be addressed when rising to speak during the lecture hour? A.—The worthy master.

Q.—In the initiatory work has an officer the right to use any language not given in the manual? A.—The ritual is very complete within itself, and it is not in good taste to use outside language. There is no law, however, against it, providing the ritual is not abridged or changed.

Q.—When an incorporated grange becomes dead, what disposal can be made of the grange property? Grange property may include a hall. A.—The grange thus being a business body can proceed legally to close out its real and personal property for the benefit of outstanding indebtedness or other disposition of the proceeds, but state grange law provides that if it appears that a few members are acting in a way to purposely wreck the grange for the property the state grange may take possession and hold it in trust for such time when the grange may desire to work again.

Q.—What redress has the state grange when a subordinate grange persists in receiving new members for a less fee than stated in the bylaws? A.—If a subordinate grange is working in violation of the bylaws, Article XVII of the bylaws of the national grange makes it the duty of the master of the state grange to suspend the charter of such offending grange.

Q.—Does a Pomona grange send any of the initiation fee away? A.—Pomona granges have full benefit of all fees and dues collected.

A Good Detective.

Some one has invented an envelope that is chemically prepared in such a way that when any one tries to open it the words "attempt to open" suddenly appear. This must give the dishonest one a shock similar to that received by the mischievous small boy who opened his big sister's letter for fun. He found himself confronted by these words on a sheet of paper:

"You dishonest little boy! I knew you would be mean enough to do this and now you are found out!"

Why Rats Gnaw.

Rats and squirrels have teeth which grow all the time. In the case of a rat, the tooth pulp is perpetual and is continually secreting material by which it gains length. Therefore the animal is obliged to gnaw all the time to keep the tooth down to its proper length. It is commonly believed that rats keep gnawing out of pure mischief, but such is not the case.

When storing tumblers, invert them;

WHEN LIFE'S AT STAKE

The most timid man will take any chance of escape. The slender rope dropped down the precipice, the slippery log over the abyss, anything that offers a chance of life, is eagerly snatched at. The end the man seeks is safety. He cares nothing for the means to that end.

There are thousands of men and women whose lives are at stake, who are hindered from accepting the one means of safety by foolish prejudice.

Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has been the means of restoring health to many men and women whose hollow cough, bleeding lungs, emaciation and weakness seemed to warrant the statement of local physicians—"There is no cure possible." Why should prejudice against a put-up medicine hinder you from trying what has cured thousands of suffering men and women?

"Only for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery I think I would be in my grave to-day," writes Mr. Moses Miles, of Hilliard, Uinta Co., Wyoming. "I had asthma so bad I could not sleep at night and was compelled to give up work. It affected my lungs so that I coughed all the time, both day and night. My friends all thought I had consumption. My wife had taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it had helped her so much she insisted on my trying his 'Golden Medical Discovery'—which I did. I have taken four bottles and am now a well man, weighing 185 pounds, thanks to Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery."

The sole motive for substitution is to permit the dealer to make the little more profit paid by the sale of less meritorious medicines. He gains; you lose.

Appointed Assistant Commissioner.

State Highway Commissioner Hunter has appointed, with the approval of the governor, George Statler, of Huntingdon, Assistant State Highway Commissioner and he will assume his duties at once.

Mr. Statler was born in 1873 near Johnstown, Cambria county, and educated in the public schools. He was employed as civil engineer in the service of the Pennsylvania railroad since 1894 in the construction department. Of late he has had charge of double-tracking the Petersburg Branch of the Middle Division.

Fifteen Locomotives Coming to Oak Grove.

Fifteen new locomotives of the consolidated type of engines are coming to Oak Grove for use on the Pennsylvania Division of the New York Central railrord. Three of these immense machines arrived at Oak Grove last week and the others will follow soon. They were built at the Schnectady, N. Y., locomotive works and each engine will have the capacity for hauling from 25 to 30 more cars than the big engines now in use.

The average weight of the engines is 225,000 pounds and of the tender 137,500 pounds. The tank has a capacity of 7,000 gallons of water and 12 tons of coal. They will carry 210 pounds of steam and each engine has two cylinders, one 16 and the other 30 inches in diameter.

For the present these big locomotives will run only between Oak Grove and Corning. They are numbered consecutively from 2415 to 2429.

POSTAL CARD DELUGE.

The thousands of postal cards received every month by the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation of Rondout, N. Y., requesting a trial bottle of their FAVORITE REMEDY reach such huge proportions that it has been very justly called a postal deluge.

Think of the substantial reward each sender of a postal card receives—a trial bottle of DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY, the greatest known cure for diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Liver, Blood, Rheumatism, Dyspepsia and Chronic Constipation.

If in return for the price of a postal card (one cent) you receive a medicine free, that will relieve your suffering. It is only fair to believe that a continued use of the same medicine, for a reasonable length of time will surely cure you.

Women who suffer from what is known as "female weaknesses" find, upon investigation, that their troubles are really diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder. To ascertain this, allow some urine to remain in a glass for twenty-four hours; if there is a sediment and smoky appearance; if you have pains in the back; if you are obliged to frequently urinate during the night, and if burning pains accompany its passage; you should seek at once Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, the most brilliant jewel in the world of medicine.

Black Bass Raised.

The State Department of Fisheries announces complete success in the hatching of small mouth black bass at a cost very little greater than for hatching trout. A week ago there were nearly a million hatched of small mouth black bass at the ponds at Corry, but unfortunately during an unusually heavy storm the ponds were flooded with surface water, the screens were broken and the majority of the little fish escaped out of the stream. It is almost hopeless to get them back, but a few however have been recovered. Although success has been achieved there will be no black bass for general distribution this year.

The success achieved by Pennsylvania is considered by the Department of Statistics as a triumph. The United States has been experimenting for a number years in the same direction and failing, though it succeeded in raising large mouth black bass, but even they are at a much heavier costs than trout. The state of Michigan succeeded in raising small mouth black bass but the process is said to entail considerable cost.

Pennsylvania has been experimenting nearly five years and until last year uniformly met with failure. Finally the way was accidentally discovered. The eggs of the small mouth black bass cannot be taken directly from the fish the same as can be done in case of brook trout, shads pike, perch, white fish and some other, species of fish that are propagated by fish culture, when all the experiments are made along the line of natural spawning of fish. The Michigan methods was tried by Pennsylvania but did not prove successful, the spawning fish refusing to occupy the device arranged for spawning beds.

The success was achieved by employing simplest methods possible namely: The exact conditions demanded by the bass for living when not spawning. Ponds of irregular shape were constructed having a considerable depth at the lower end and shoal at the upper end and the greater portion of the sides. Gravel was thickly laid over the bottom of the entire pond particularly in shoal portions. Water plants were introduced abundantly. Four hundred mature bass were placed in these ponds last fall and were regularly fed on tadpoles, small frogs and minnows. It was found that abundant feeding was necessary to have fish spawn. Scanty fed fish would not properly ripen either eggs or milt. About the first of May the bass went into the shoal water, built their nests, laid and hatched their eggs.

The superintendent who has been so successful in the attempt to hatch the small mouth black bass is Wm. Buller, one of the family of well known fish culturists in this state all of whom are employed by the department of Fisheries. The experiments for the last five years were conducted under the direction and supervision of Commissioner Meehan.

TIME IS THE TEST

The testimony of Bellefonte people stands the test

The test of time is what tells the tale. "A new broom sweeps clean" but will it wear well is what interests most. The public soon find out when misrepresentations are made and merit alone will stands the test of time. Bellefonte people appreciate merit and many months ago local citizens publicly endorsed Doan's Kidney Pills; the do so still. Would a citizen make the statement which follows unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

James Rine of 2 Thomas street employed in the planing mill, says: "I can speak as highly now of Doan's Kidney Pills as I did years ago and my case is pretty good evidence that the cures made by them are not temporary. I have not had any of the severe pains in my back since I used Doan's Kidney Pills while before I could not put on my shoes and could hardly drag my self around. Though I have had slight touches of backache it never amounted to much, I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to hundreds of people and I know of those who have had the greatest relief from suffering by using them. I can say they are reliable and permanent in their effects."

Pennsy Will Erect $5,000,000 Shops at Altoona.

The Pennsylvania Railroad company has decided to spend a total of $5,000,000 in improving its shop facilities in and about Altoona to meet the enormous demand freight traffic is making on the lines east and west. A great central foundry plant is to go up in the west end, which will cost alone $3,000,000.

Here 3,000 men will be employed. The site covers almost 200 acres, and to avoid real estate speculation to the detriment of its employes, the company has also purchased a big piece of real estate to be used for homes for its men.

Work on this foundry plant, which is the largest in the world, has already been begun, and the shops will be ready for occupancy by the beginning of the year. The wheel foundry will have a capacity of 900 wheels a day. Brass, steel, malleable iron and soft iron foundries will constitute the remainder of the big plant.

East of the city the Pennsylvania has begun the erection of the biggest roundhouse in the world, with a complement of new repair shops which will employ 2,000 more men.
